

UNIVERSITY OF NAIROBI
EXTERNAL JOB VACANCIES (PROJECT POSITIONS)

RE-ADVERTISEMENT

Applications are invited for the following position:

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT COORDINATOR; COMMUNITY-FOCUSED ORAL-HEALTH RESEARCH FOR EQUITY (CORE) PROJECT, ADVERT REF: (AD/4/222/26), 1 POST

The Project:

Community-Focused Oral-Health Research for Equity (CORE), is a NIHR Global Health funded programme led by Professor Richard Watt (University College London) and Dr. Carol Guarnizo Herreno (National University of Colombia). The programme aims to assess the impact of oral health inequalities within the four Low- and Middle-Income countries; Colombia, Brazil, Kenya, and India and determine the influence of commercial determinants on oral health and test public health interventions and system reforms to reduce oral health inequalities.

The position:

The position holder will join a multi-country programme and will be involved in contributing to community mapping, forums and engagement with marginalized communities on oral health and determinants of inequalities in access to oral health services. This is an exciting opportunity for an early career position in communication, media and social sciences with special interest in community development. This is a six-month position, renewable subject to the availability of funds.

Job Specification:

- a) Bachelor's degree in any of the following fields; Communication, Digital Media, Social Sciences or an equivalent field, or substantial experience in community engagement activities.
- b) Excellent communication skills.
- c) Ability to work independently and collaboratively with partners.
- d) Proficiency in English, Kiswahili and local languages relevant to the community.
- e) Ability to prepare reports for circulation in both print and digital media.
